Their subscription-based services are especially noteworthy, allowing companies of all sizes to access first class creative services within budget.

The judges were particularly impressed by the level of quality and creativity the team brings to every project, led from the front by CEO and creative director, Maria Burgelova. Maria has been front and centre throughout the growth and development of the business, with a recent feature in Forbes Business highlighting her leadership acumen and visionary approach. Her ability to navigate the challenges of leading a creative agency in today's fast-paced environment, especially as a female leader in a predominantly male-dominated industry, underscores the agency's ethos of breaking boundaries and forging new paths.
